

MoB Gaming Announces New FIFA Player - KreeganBG

MoB Gaming is excited to announce Felipe "KreeganBG" Stoyne as their new FIFA '09 player in 2009. KreeganBG brings with him many years of experience, two of which he spent in the Championship Gaming Series. A member of the former Los Angeles Complexity, KreeganBG is one of the most talented players to ever play the game. Granted, the CGS was a good gig to have, but now, we are proud to have him aboard at MoB Gaming.

When I found out that the CGS was going down, I was really upset." Kreegan said. "People were being paid big money for it, but I just moved on to something else." On why he stuck with FIFA after the CGS: "Now that I am a free gamer, I can do what I want to. WCG is still big with FIFA, and I can finally have the freedom to compete in new tournaments all over the world including the FIFA World Cup on the Playstation, as well as some international tournaments on the Xbox 360. My goal is to go to tournaments I couldn't attend before, and compete in anything and everything I can." "My career has been FIFA, that's my main game," Kreegan told me. "It doesn't matter what happens to the CGS, I love FIFA. If FIFA wasn't around anymore, I don't know if I could play anything else." That dedication is the exact reason KreeganBG is always a favorite anywhere he goes to compete. KreeganBG has been known around the country after his 2nd place finish at the WCG US Finals in 2005. After that, he moved on to win the 2006 WCG US Open, and finish 3rd in the 2006 WCG US Finals. Then in 2007, he was drafted to the LA Complexity where he finished 2nd overall in the FIFA standings. He was also the US champion in the World Cyber Games and went on to a top 8 finish in the world. 2008 also brought another year of CGS as he was selected as one of LA's protected players after such a stellar year in 2007. After being captain of Bulgaria's team for the 5 on 5 ESL Spring Cup, he then went on to finish in the top 4 for the CGS again, and also finished 3rd at the US Finals in Los Angeles for the World Cyber Games. Now in 2009, MoB Gaming is proud to have a player with such a great resume on the roster. KreeganBG has already competed once in the latest game in the FIFA series finishing 2nd in the SGL's online championships. Now he is geared up for the new season, and is ready to take MoB Gaming to the next level, as well as grab a few championships himself!
